DR. PHIL: "Alienated Parents" Show #9025 (TVPG(L)). It's been called the ultimate form of child abuse – parents brainwashing their children against an ex-spouse in order to win custody. Could you be harming your child emotionally and not even know it? For 12 years, Chrissy and her ex-husband, Dennis, have been embroiled in a nasty custody battle for their two children. Dennis says that Chrissy badmouths him and his new wife, Gina, to their children and even took out a protective order against him, while Chrissy feels that her ex is an extreme disciplinarian who is teaching their kids to be pathological liars. Areva Martin, attorney and women's advocate, examines Chrissy's legal position, while Lisa Bloom, CBS legal analyst, weighs in on Dennis' position. Plus, Dr. Phil speaks to former guest Bridget Marks, who made headlines when she had to hand over her twin daughters to their biological father after a court ruled that she falsely accused him of molestation. 10/20/10

DR. PHIL: "End the Silence on Domestic Violence: Teen Dating Violence" Show #9001(TVPG(L)). Every 15 seconds in America, a woman is abused, and it is the most under-reported phenomena in our society. Dr. Phil continues his mission to end the silence on domestic violence! First, he speaks with Mallory, a pregnant 19-year-old, who says her boyfriend, Brett, is abusive. Even though she says he threatened her life, pushed her around and locked her in a closet, she refuses to end the relationship. Brett admits he has anger issues, and although he says he loves Mallory, sometimes he can't stand her. Is there hope for this teen couple? And, Lori fears her 18-year-old daughter, Kelsi, is still involved with her abusive ex-boyfriend. Kelsi admits she's torn between her feelings for her ex and following her family's wishes. Will these teens get a wake-up call when they hear a heartbreaking story from a mother whose daughter was murdered? Teens, do you know the warning signs of abuse and how to exit a dangerous relationship safely? Parents, do you know what to look for if you think your daughter is in a violent relationship? Don't miss this important show! Make some noise --join Dr. Phil's campaign and pledge to end the silence on domestic violence! 10/21/10

DR. PHIL: "Behind the Headlines" Show #9051 (TVPG(L)(S)(D)). Dr. Phil tackles two news stories that have captivated millions. First up, is it ever appropriate to confront your child's bullies? That's what James Jones says he did when he boarded his 12-year-old daughter, Chatari's, school bus, and the video of his tirade went viral! James says some of the students terrorized his child, who suffers from cerebral palsy, and his actions resulted in two second-degree misdemeanor charges against him. CNN contributor Roland Martin joins the show, and he says James should be named Father of the Year for protecting Chatari, who was reportedly hit, called names and had condoms thrown at her. Roland goes head-to-head with attorney Areva Martin, who says James's behavior was unwarranted. Did this dad cross the line? What does Dr. Phil think? Plus, the disappearance of David Hartley reads like a murder mystery. His wife, Tiffany, says they were on vacation when David was shot in the head by Mexican pirates while jet skiing. His body was never recovered, and Mexican authorities question if the event really occurred. Some people wonder if Tiffany was involved, but she maintains her innocence. 11/1/10

DR. PHIL: "Fight Over Teen's Baby" Show#9022(TV14(L)(S)(D)). Statistics show that 2,000 teens get pregnant every day. Moms and dads: Watch this show with your teenagers, because it can impact their lives and yours! Two families face off over who should raise baby Miley. Paige, 17, and her boyfriend, Jordan, 18, are determined to raise their child on their own, even though they live with Jordan's dad, Chris. Nikki, Paige's stepmom, thinks she and her husband should raise the child, because they can better provide for her, and she wants Paige to break up with Jordan. Why does she believe that Jordan is brainwashing Paige? The teen dad says Nikki is the one who's controlling, and he's stepped up to the plate. Will the families come to an agreement? See what Dr. Phil tells them they must do to ensure Miley grows up in a healthy environment. Plus, find out the 10 things teens want their parents to know about teen sex. 11/8/10

DR. PHIL: "Raising a Bully?" Show #9061(TVPG(L)). All season long, Dr. Phil is leading a call to action to stamp out bullying. Now, he shines a spotlight on what's been called one of the shocking cases of bullying school officials have ever seen. A 14-year-old boy with special needs was allegedly held against his will while four older boys from school tattooed a lewd phrase on his buttocks. Although the attackers were convicted of charges including indecent exposure and endangering the welfare of a minor, the teen's parents, Michael and Tammy, say the scars from that tattoo are more than skin deep. Eighteen-year-old Blake, one of the bullies who was recently released from jail, wants to apologize to the victim. He and his mother, Patti, say there's another version of the story that the media aren't telling. Learn how to talk to your child to find out if he or she is being harassed. Then, Lizette fears that she's raising a bully. She says her 13-year-old daughter, Annmarie, is manipulative and mean, and she was shocked to see a YouTube video of the teen fighting another girl! What's really behind Annmarie's anger, and can she get her temper under control? 11/23/10

Renee says her husband flies into uncontrollable rages and blames her when their arguments escalate. See why the mom of three doesn't fight back anymore and what the law has done to try to intervene. Plus find out what Charles will admit but not take responsibility for. Dr. Phil's pleas for compassion in this highly toxic situation may surprise you. 11/18/10

10TV NEWS HD: "Stress and Heart" - Doctors have known for a while that stress can lead to heartattacks in men, Now research shows that the same is true for women. OSU's Dr. Laxmi Mehta says she is not surprised. 5pm TRT: 50 (Andrea Cambern) 11/18/10

10TV NEWS HD: "Women and Lung Cancer" - Lung cancer is the number one cancer killer of women. A Boston study finds that women who have never smoked are more likely to die of lung cancer than men who have never smoked. When Diane Winbigler was diagnosed, she was surprised because she had never smoked. Dr. Philip Keubler of Riverside Hospital says genetics and metabolism may explain the reason why women see more susceptible. He says women therefore may be affected more by secondhand smoke. He is involved in a study of blood and tumors to see if it is true. 5pm TRT: 1:26 (Andrea Cambern) 11/22/10

10TV NEWS HD: "Women Helping Women" The Women's Leadership Council of the United Way was so concerned about single mothers who struggle with poverty that each member of the council donated $1,000 to try and make a difference. It's launching a three-eyar program with the New Directions Career Center. Thirty women will be counseled, offered college classes or job training for a career that will be in demand. The goal is to help these women support their families with a living wage. 5pm TRT: 1:44 Andrea Cambern 12/6/10

10TV NEWS HD: "Iron Surplus" - Dr. Mark Wuster of OSU Medical Center says many older women are suffering needlessly with diabetes and heart problems, because they have a genetic problem they don't know about. It's called hemochromatosis, too much iron in the blood. Men get it too, but for many women, the symptoms are masked until menopause. That's because monthly periods get rid of the excess blood. He says pills in a clinical trial or blood donations are a way to avoid some various serious complications of untreated disease. 5pm TRT: 1:28 (Andrea Cambern) 12/7/10

10TV NEWS HD: "Women Vet Students" The class at the OSU College of veterinary Medicine has undergone a gender shift in a generation. Thirty years ago, women made up only a handful of students. Now there are 116 women and 26 men in the latest class. This trend is happening all over the country. Since most women want to work in small animal clinics, health experts worry about having enough veterinarians for farm animal care, and to keep the food supply safe. OSU is making some curriculum changes to try and head off a looming problem. 5pm TRT: 1:25 Andrea Cambern 12/20/10

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "fugitive@hotmail.com" - a report on the three-year international manhunt and eventual capture of Dr. Yazeed "Yaz" Essa, a Cleveland doctor accused of murdering his wife, Rosemarie. In February 2005, Rosemarie, the mother of Essa's two children, was in a minor car accident. She suffered no physical injuries, but she passed out and shortly afterwards died in a Cleveland hospital. Her best friend, Eva McGregor, voiced her own suspicion that Essa had tampered with the calcium supplements that Rosemarie had taken on the morning of her death. Weeks later, tests of the calcium tablets proved that she had died of cyanide poisoning. Police went to charge Essa, but he had fled from the U.S. to Canada and eventually to Beirut, Lebanon, where he hid, knowing that he could not be extradited back to the U.S. In October 2006, he went to Cyprus, a country that does have an extradition treaty with the U.S. Interpol and the FBI alerted the Cyprus police that Essa was traveling under an alias; he was apprehended at the Larnaca airport and brought in for questioning and fingerprinting. His true identity was established, and he was arrested for using a doctored passport and held in a Cyprus prison. He fought extradition for two years but was returned to the U.S. In January 2010 his trial began. His protector in the Middle East and Essa's brother, Firas, both testified that Essa had told them that he had killed his wife by putting cyanide in her calcium pills. He was found guilty of aggravated murder and sentenced to life in prison with the possibility of parole in twenty years. Onscreen graphic at conclusion: The Essa family has asked to visit the children. For now, Rosemarie's family won't allow it. After the trial, the children were told that their father killed their mother. They haven't asked about him since. Includes interviews with: FBI Special Agent Phil Torsney; Leila Atassi, reporter, Cleveland Plain Dealer; Dominic DiPuccio, Rosemarie's brother; Dr. Bob Khadar, Essa's best friend; Firas Essa, Essa's brother; Alexandra Herrera, Essa's ex-girlfriend; Julie DiPuccio, Rosemarie's sister-in-law; Stephen Bradley, defense attorney; Detective Gary McKee; Jamal Khalife, Essa's protector in the Middle East; Nayla Souki, Essa's girlfriend in Beirut; Sergeant Mario Ioannou, Larnaca (Cyprus) Police; Matt Meyer, prosecutor; Ana Feralia, prosecutor; Mark Marein, defense attorney. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Whole Truth" - a report on the 26-year effort of Bruce Lisker to overturn his conviction for the 1983 murder of his mother. In March 1983, 17-year-old Bruce Lisker hysterically called 911 to tell Los Angeles police that he had found his mother, Dorka Lisker, beaten severely and stabbed in her Sherman Oaks home. Police arrived to find him hysterical and on drugs. They arrested him, and a young detective, Andrew Monsue, proceeded to build a case against Bruce. Bruce's father believed that his son was innocent, and urged police to investigate Bruce's friend Mike Ryan, a 15-year-old with a criminal record, who had gone to the house to see Bruce's mother the day before. But Monsue focused on Bruce, and presented what he maintained was evidence that Bruce was guilty. Bruce was tried as an adult; the jury found him guilty and he was sentenced to 16 years to life. In 1999, Bruce, still in prison, hired ex-cop-turned-private-investigator Paul Ingels to help him overturn his conviction. With the aid of then-Sgt. Jim Gavin of the Los Angeles Police Department, Ingels discovered that the evidence against Bruce had apparently been fabricated. Ingels and Gavin gave their findings to the LA Times, and on May 22, 2005, the newspaper ran an article questioning the evidence that had put Lisker behind bars. Two months later, a federal judge granted a hearing to consider new evidence in the case. Four years passed, and in August 2009 a federal judge ruled that Lisker had been convicted on false evidence and must be retried or set free. On August 17, 2009, he was set free on bail. Six weeks later, he went back to court, at which time the prosecutor said that too much time has passed to retry the case and they had no choice but to dismiss the charges. One year later, the state asked the court to return Lisker to prison based on a technicality arguing that Lisker was late filing his petition for release. A judge rejected that motion. Concluding onscreen graphics: Bruce Lisker remains free...for now. Includes interviews with: Bruce Lisker; Phillip Rabichow, prosecutor; Scott Glover and Matt Lait, LA Times reporters; Robert Hughes, one-time prisoner in the cell next to Lisker; Paul Ingels, private investigator; Sgt. Jim Gavin, LAPD; Mort Borenstein, the new owner of Dorka Lisker's house. (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Liza Finley, Greg Fisher). 10/16/10

48 HOURS MYSTERY - "The One Who Got Away" - a report about how serial killer Andrew Urdiales was identified, arrested and convicted, and about the young woman who became the only one of his victims to survive. Between 1986 and 1996, Andrew Urdiales attacked, tortured and killed eight women, first in California and then in Illinois. His first victim was Robbin Brandley of Mission Viejo, California. In 1992, he charmed 19-year-old Jennifer Asbenson, potentially his ninth victim, who accepted a ride from a seemingly kind stranger and was then driven into the California desert, where she was tortured, made to perform sexual acts and strangled, then put in the trunk of his car. Summoning all the strength she had, she escaped and found safety when a passing truck stopped and rescued her. Urdiales disappeared. In 1997, Chicago police were interested when they received a tip from a prostitute that a client had wanted to tie her up, place her in the trunk of his car, and then drive her out to Wolf Lake. Prior to the tip, the bodies of three other women had been discovered in the lake, all killed with the same gun. The client turned out to be Andrew Urdiales and the gun used in the murders belonged to him. Chicago police brought him in for questioning and Urdiales matter-of-factly confessed to eight unsolved murders in Illinois and California, including Robbin Brandley's and the attack on Jennifer Asbenson. Fifteen years after her attack, Jennifer Asbenson faced Urdiales in a Chicago courtroom; a jury convicted Urdiales and sentenced him to death. California authorities must wait until the appeals process is completed in Illinois, before they can begin their proceedings against him. Onscreen graphic: Andrew Urdiales remains on death row in Illinois. Jennifer Asbenson is writing a book about her life. Interviewed: Jennifer Asbenson, Genelle and Jack Reilley, Robbin Brandley's parents, Jayeson Brandley, Robbin's brother, Helen Moreno, supervising investigator with the Orange County DA's office; Howard Gundy, Orange County Deputy Attorney, Palm Springs Lieutenant John Booth; Chicago Homicide Detective Don McGrath; Cook County Assistant State's Attorney Jim McKay; Jennifer Asbenson's daughter Augusta. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Preacher's Wife" (9:00-10:00pm) - In April 2006, Matt Baker, a pastor from Waco, Texas, returned home to find his wife Kari unconscious, with an empty bottle of Unisom and a suicide note beside her. Paramedics arrived within minutes, but it was too late. Based on the note, the empty bottle of sleeping pills, and the fact that Kari was described as still struggling with the loss of her daughter Kassidy seven years ago, police ruled it a suicide. In a county with no medical examiner, police described the case over the phone to a justice of the peace, who determined that no autopsy was needed. Kari's parents, Jim and Linda Dulin, had no choice but to believe Matt. However, Linda's sisters, Nancy, Kay, and Jennifer, and niece Lindsey believed otherwise. Dubbed "Charlie's Angels", they began their own investigation. After uncovering a possible motive, Linda hired Bill Johnston, a dogged former federal prosecutor, had her daughter's body exhumed and autopsied, and filed a wrongful death suit against Matt. Five months after Kari's death, the justice of the peace declared that her death was no longer classified as a suicide and police subsequently arrested and charged Matt with murder. Believing Matt would be tried in criminal court, Linda dropped her wrongful death suit. After six months, the district attorney still hadn't taken Matt's case to a grand jury -- a requirement under Texas law. Linda eventually refiled the wrongful death suit, shortly before attorney Guy James Gray filed a successful motion to dismiss Matt's criminal case, as a grand jury indictment had not been returned within 180 days. Matt Baker is no longer charged with any crime, though the district attorney continues to investigate and could refile criminal charges. There is no statute of limitations for murder. (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Lisa Freed, Gail Abbott Zimmerman) (OAD: 05/10/08; 1st Rebroadcast: 06/09/09). Update for the 06/09/09 rebroadcast: On March 25, 2009, a grand jury indicted Baker for the murder of his wife, after a surprise witness -- Vanessa Bulls, a girlfriend of his -- came forward and testified. He will go on trial in September. Graphic postscript: Baker was released from jail on $250,000 bond, pending trial. He's again living in Kerrville, Texas, with his parents and daughters. 10/30/10

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Dirty Little Secrets" (10:00-11:00pm) - a follow-up to "The Preacher's Wife" (OAD: 05/10/08; 1st rebroadcast and update on 06/09/09; 2nd rebroadcast on 10/30/10). In April 2006, Matt Baker, a pastor from Waco, Texas, returned home to find his wife Kari unconscious, with an empty bottle of Unisom and a suicide note beside her. Based on the note, the empty bottle of sleeping pills, and the fact that Kari was described as still struggling with the loss of her daughter Kassidy seven years ago, police ruled it a suicide. Linda Dulin, Kari's mother, was convinced she had been murdered and set out to prove it by hiring attorney Bill Johnston and his team of investigators, who had Kari's body exhumed and autopsied. Five months after Kari's death, the justice of the peace declared that her death was no longer classified as a suicide. In September 2007, the police felt they had a homicide on their hands and Matt Baker was arrested and charged with murder. He was released on bond, thanks to attorney Guy James Gray, who took the case pro bono. However, six months later, assistant district attorney Crawford Long dropped the murder charges because the evidence was too speculative. Unwilling to give up, Linda Dulin decided to again sue Matt for wrongful death. Bill Johnston, assistant district attorney Long and prosecutor Susan Shafer continued to investigate. Armed with new information and damning testimony provided to the grand jury by Vanessa Bulls, a woman long suspected of having an affair with Matt before Kari's death, prosecutors were able to arrest Matt and charge him with murder. At the trial, it was revealed that Matt told

Vanessa how he planned to murder Kari, the reason why, and even the exact date, but Vanessa chose not to notify the authorities. After seven hours of deliberation, the jury found Matt Baker guilty of first-degree murder. He was sentenced to 65 years with the possibility of parole. Matt still insists he did not kill his wife. The Bakers' daughters live with Matt's parents, where they want to stay. Kari's parents are now fighting for custody of the girls. Onscreen graphics: In January a jury will decide who will get custody of Kari Baker's daughters. No charges will be filed against Vanessa Bulls. After testifying, she lost her job as a teacher. Matt Baker is appealing the verdict. Interviewed: Linda Dulin, Kari's mother; Linda's attorney Bill Johnston; Texas Ranger Matt Cawthon; Assistant District Attorney Crawford Long; prosecutor Susan Shafer; investigator Abdon Rodriguez; Guy James Gray, Matt Baker's attorney; and Matt Baker. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Taken: The Amber Dubois Story" - a report on the February 13, 2009 disappearance of Amber Dubois, just blocks from Escondido High School in Southern California. 48 HOURS examines the permanent impact her disappearance has had on her family, even after the discovery and conviction of the murderer. Initially, with no clues as to her whereabouts, investigators began to look at her mother Carrie McGonigle's live-in boyfriend, Dave Cave as a person of interest. Carrie herself and Amber's father, Moe Dubois, soon began believing that Cave was responsible for Amber's disappearance. Almost a year later, another teenage girl, Chelsea King, went missing. Chelsea had been running just ten miles from where Amber disappeared. Police quickly found Chelsea's underwear with DNA evidence that would lead them to the arrest of convicted sex offender John Gardner, who was out on parole. Gardner was then also identified by another woman, Candice Moncayo, as the man who attacked her on the same jogging trail just two months earlier. Then police found Chelsea's body and Gardner was charged with her murder and the attack against Moncayo. Under interrogation and facing the death penalty for the murder of Chelsea, Gardner agreed to lead police to Amber's body in exchange for avoiding the death penalty. John Gardner was convicted of both Amber's and Chelsea's murders and sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. In his exclusive interview with 48 HOURS MYSTERY, he recounted the day he murdered Amber and admitted he is the most dangerous type of sexual predator. He said he needs to be locked up forever. Onscreen graphics: Moe Dubois helped pass new laws in California that help track sex offenders and speed up police response in missing children's cases. Interviewed: Carrie McGonigle, Amber's mother; Dave Cave, Carrie's boyfriend; Maurice "Moe" Dubois, Amber's father; Bonnie Dumanic, San Diego District Attorney; John Gardner, convicted murderer. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Chasing the Barefoot Bandit" - A report on Colton Harris-Moore, also known as the "Barefoot Bandit," because of his habit of committing crimes barefoot and leaving chalk outlines of his feet; and whose criminal exploits included stealing planes, guns, yachts, and even escaping to foreign countries. His exploits reminded many of legendary outlaws like Jesse James, and as news of his crimes spread beyond the Pacific Northwest, his popularity grew, even spawning Facebook fan pages. Born on Camano Island, Washington, Harris-Moore was an unpopular teen, physically neglected and mentally abused by his mother, Pam Kohler. He wanted to become a pilot, but instead turned to a life of crime at age 10, stealing laptops, cell phones, and jewelry. He was arrested and sent to a halfway house, but escaped custody and continued breaking into vacation homes and leaving his mark. He even ordered a DVD on learning to fly a plane with a stolen credit card. In 2008, he stole his first plane, crashing it 250 miles away from where he stole it, and simply walked away. He then worked in Las Vegas, then went to Canada and stole guns. In 2009, he stole his second plane, and the legend of Colton Harris-Moore was born. After stealing his third plane, the Department of Homeland Security joined in the hunt; but he still avoided capture. In 2010, he stole an airplane in Bloomington, Indiana and flew it to Abaco Island in the Bahamas, where he continued to commit break-ins. While 48 HOURS was on his trail in the Bahamas, he allegedly stole a yacht and escaped to the nearby Bahamian island of Eleuthera. He was spotted by some local teens who, knowing about the $10,000 reward offered for his capture, chased him by boat. Police joined in the hunt, and Harris-Moore was finally captured. Deported from the Bahamas, he is was returned to the U.S., where he was indicted on federal charges for stealing two planes, guns, a boat and flying without a license. He faces ten years behind bars. Onscreen graphics: Colton Harris-Moore will be arraigned Thursday in federal court. He faces additional charges in several states. Colton and his mother have not seen each other since his arrest. She's had offers to buy Colton's story and has hired a well-known entertainment lawyer. Interviewed: Ashley Martin, childhood friend of Colton; Jessica Wesson, classmate; Paul Ciolino, 48 HOURS investigator; Bob Friel, Harris-Moore biographer; Jacquie Staggs, friend of Colton's mother; Harley Davidson Ironwing, burglary accomplice; Colleen Armstrong, editor of the local newspaper on Orcas Island; Kyle Ater, owner of the Orcas Homegrown Market, allegedly burglarized by Colton; Suzanne Vidal, local realtor; Marion Rathbone, operator of Vern's restaurant; Bob Rivers, Seattle radio personality and owner of the first stolen plane; Hi Stickney, Kelly Kneifl, Kristen Jones, Gary Martin Sawyer, victims of Colton's; James Coakley, club owner; Kenny Strachan, security guard; Jordan Sackett, American tourist (C: Peter Van Sant - P: Paul LaRosa, Sarah Prior). 11/13/10

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Secrets, Lies and Alibis" On August 22, 2004, John and Susan Sutton had a family get together in their Coral Gables, Florida home, that included their son Christopher, his girlfriend Juliette Driscoll, and Teddy Montoto, John's law partner and friend. Afterwards, when Teddy had left and John and Juliette had gone to a movie, John and Susan retired to separate bedrooms -- Susan often slept in the second room because John snored. Sometime later in the evening, a gunman entered their bedrooms and shot both of them several times. Susan was killed, but John survived. Nothing was taken from the house -- not money, nor jewelry. There was no doubt that this was a premeditated effort to make sure that they were dead. Police interrogation of Teddy Montoto revealed that he had been having an affair with Susan, but further investigation eliminated him as a suspect. Interviews with some of John's closest friends suggested that the Suttons' son, Christopher, should be investigated as a suspect. He had been sent to a behavioral program, Paradise Cove, on the Polynesian islands of Samoa, when he was 16. He claims he was abused there and tried to tell his parents about it, but they didn't believe him, and he was kept there until he was 19. He became the prime suspect. After checking his cell phone records, authorities noticed more than 300 calls to his friend Garrett Kopp, who had been arrested less than 24 hours after the Suttons shooting for attacking someone else with a gun. That turned out to be the same gun that was used to shoot the Suttons. Kopp told police that he was hired by his friend Christopher Sutton to kill his parents. Christopher's then-fiancée Juliette Driscoll told the police that Christopher had a deep-seated resentment towards his parents for sending him to Samoa. She said he often spoke of how great their lives would be if his parents were dead. Garrett Kopp and Juliette Driscoll testified against Christopher in court. Christopher claimed that Kopp had gone to the Suttons' house to steal marijuana and that Driscoll testified against him because she had been threatened by police. After a day and a half of deliberations, the jury found Christopher Sutton guilty of first-degree murder as charged. He was sentenced to life in prison with no possibility of parole. Onscreen graphics: Christopher Sutton is planning to appeal his conviction. Hit man Garrett Kopp is scheduled to be released in 2035. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Shootout at the Hills" - a report on the November 14, 2006 shooting of Danny Hill, by his wife, Charlene. Charlene claimed that their seemingly happy life together was all a facade and that she shot him in self-defense, as Danny came at her after an argument. Charlene's years of suffering physical abuse from Danny was well documented by police reports and hospital visits. Their children -- sons Jeremy (from a previous marriage), Joby, and daughter Jamie -- even admitted that their father, Danny, was abusive, but that he had mellowed after he and their mother had survived a near-fatal motorcycle accident in August 2003 and that their mother had often instigated the arguments, leaving Danny with no choice but to react the way he did. Arrested for her husband's murder, Charlene faced life in prison. Months before the trial began, her son, Joby, committed suicide on the eve of his 27th birthday. Joby was supposed to be a witness for the prosecution, but according to his brother Jeremy, dreaded the thought of testifying. At the trial, prosecutors questioned Charlene's claim of self-defense and claimed that the multi-million dollar estate was the motive. Defense attorney George Parnham believed that her children's desire to gain control of the family fortune drove them to testify against their mother and was able to get Jeremy to reveal that a million dollars Charlene had transferred to him for safekeeping was withdrawn and split with his siblings to pay off debts -- all without his mother's knowledge. The jury deliberated for two days, before the judge declared a mistrial due to the lone juror who believed in Charlene's innocence. In addition to the criminal trial, Charlene also faced a wrongful death lawsuit from Jeremy, Jamie and Danny's mother, Barbara Graham. Onscreen graphics: The Hill family's civil suit has been settled. Charlene Hill's new trial is slated for January. On TheDirty.com, people can anonymously submit photos and negative comments about anyone in their community, while the creator of the controversial site, Nik, proudly offers up his own opinions about the subjects in the photos. Nik calls his site the first ever civilian paparazzi, where people can be held accountable for their actions. Nik and his attorney say there's nothing illegal about the website, and people need to be more careful about what photos they post online. And, Bruna says she's an aspiring model whose pictures ended up the website three years ago, complete with horrible comments and slanderous accusations. She says the insulting posts have affected her self-confidence and made her withdraw socially and second-guess her friendships. Should controversial websites like this be shut down? Plus, Nik's wife, Shayne Lamas, often the subject of tabloid fodder herself, offers her opinion. And, Nik's attorney gives his tips that everyone should know before going on the Internet.
